DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

- a. On Page 2 of the specification on lines 7-8, delete "copending application serial number "not yet assigned," attorney docket number 0887-4147PC1, fled on the same day as this application" and insert --U.S. Patent No. 6,795,195--;
- b. On Page 2 of the specification on line 11 delete "4147PC1 application" and insert -- '195 patent--;
- c. On Page 2 of the specification on lines 11-12, delete "copending application serial number "not yet assigned," attorney docket number 0887-4149PC1, fled on the same day as this application" and insert --U.S. Patent No. 6,937,884--;
- d. On Page 2 of the specification on line 15 delete "4149PC1 application" and insert -- '884 patent--;
- e. In claim 16 after "compressibility" insert --.--.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-3, 6-23 are allowed over the prior art of record.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claim 1, the prior art fails to disclose or make obvious a method for collecting data for use in image reconstruction of a scattering target medium having the steps of selecting at least one wavelength of near infrared energy, wherein the at least one wavelength of near infrared energy is selected to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy propagating through the target medium from the source to a detector and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the detector; selecting a single wavelength to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy from the source to a detector furthest from the source and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the farthest detector, and in combination with the other recited limitations of claim 1. Claims 2-3, 6-17 are allowed by the virtue of dependency on the allowed claim 1.

Regarding claim 18, the prior art fails to disclose or make obvious a method of selecting an optimal wavelength or near infrared energy for imaging in a scattering target medium having the steps of selecting a single wavelength to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy from the source to a detector furthest from the source and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the farthest detector, and in combination with the other recited limitations of claim 18. Claims 19-20 are allowed by the virtue of dependency on the allowed claim 18.

Regarding claim 21, the prior art fails to disclose or make obvious a method for collecting data for use in image reconstruction of a scattering target medium having the steps of providing a source for directing at least one wavelength of near infrared energy into a target medium wherein the at least one wavelength is selected to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy propagating through the target medium from the source to a detector and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the detector; selecting a single wavelength to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy from the source to a detector furthest from the source and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the farthest detector, and in combination with the other recited limitations of claim 21.

Regarding claim 22, the prior art fails to disclose or make obvious a system for enhanced imaging of a scattering target medium having a means for selecting at least one wavelength of near infrared energy, wherein the at least one wavelength of near infrared energy is selected to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy propagating through the target medium from the source to a detector and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the detector; selecting a single wavelength to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy from the source to a detector furthest from the source and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the farthest detector, and in combination with the other recited limitations of claim 22.

Regarding claim 23, the prior art fails to disclose or make obvious a system for enhanced imaging of a scattering target medium having a means for selecting a single wavelength to maximize the total path length of near infrared energy from the source to a detector furthest from the source and to maintain an acceptable energy density at the farthest detector, and in combination with the other recited limitations of claim 23.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
